Known for his taxidermy-meets bling weaponed sculptural works, Peter Gronquist explores a more contemplative side of his artist mind, using a series of color field paintings to address the role of technology in our lives by thinking outside of the traditional canvas. Refuge will also continue his signature infinity mirror pieces, opening this Thursday June 9th at Joseph Gross Gallery (548 West 28th Street) from 6-8pm

Murray Hill's Gingerbread Carriage House - Alongside the traffic to the Queens-Midtown tunnel is this gingerbread of a house with an artistic past. The Flemish Revival former stable house was built in 1902 by architect Ralph Samuel Townsend to house financier George Bowdoin's horses and coachmen. The red brick facade features... <http://art-nerd.com/murray-hills-gingerbread-carriage-ho.../>
